

Dear Sir/Madam

Re consultation on registration of overseas trained Dentists

I question the limitation of the approved schools . This appears to be based on an historical bases .It does appear strange that the only courses in compliance with national law are those from the British Commonwealth

It is difficult to believe that not one European ,USA or Asian school would comply .

How long since accreditation has been checked on the Dental schools listed . Also I was of the belief that South African School had been approved

Regards

Gabrielle
